FOREWORD

THE slow development of science through the years has produced a civilization which is advanced beyond the wildest dreams of its pioneers. In recognition of the great debt we owe an ever-advancing power, we have selected "THE SCIENCES" as the theme of our ONEIDA.

In time to come you may use your ONEIDA as a telescope to bring from far away the faces which have grown dim over the space of time that separates you from high school years.

We hope that as time goes on our ONEIDA will grow, that our school will grow, that you will grow, and that science will continue its steady advance for the betterment of mankind.

DEDICATION

BECAUSE of the fine spirit of co-operation and the high degree of interest in us they have displayed, we the class of nineteen hundred and forty dedicate our issue of the ONEIDA to

MISS INEZ M. ROBISON

and

BOOK I

FRESHMEN

BOOK ONE

A STRAINING eye,
a probing finger, a mind searching the dark recesses of ignorance for a guiding ray of light . . .

An alchemist seated in the dark forbidding atmosphere of his small basement room which serves as the center for his experiments . . . exploring, searching, hoping to find in the blackness of disillusionment and despair a ray which will throw the light upon that which he knows not.

A bewildered student, new to high school life, seated in a class room, a wealth of knowledge before him, a great black blanket enfolding it . . . He stretches forth a seeking hand to lift and lay aside a portion of the unrevealing darkness, to discover the first elementary offerings of that which he seeks . . . his high school life is started.

BOOK II

SOPHOMORES

BOOK TWO

MAN has lived for centuries in the darkness of ignorance . . . he is now on the brink of discovery, the black sky is graying, dawn is about to break.

The alchemist with his foolish search has given way to a more serious type of research. Certain thinkers begin to wonder at things around them. They investigate, their investigation leads to careful experimentation and inquiry . . . they are on the way to discovery.

The student is entering his second year of high school. His first year has prepared him for that which lies ahead; he is becoming interested in things which formerly were beyond his understanding. He is being molded and shaped for the really great opportunities ahead.

BOOK III

JUNIORS

BOOK THREE

AT last the graying sky grows bright; the sun peeps over the rim of the distant horizon, its slanting rays falling in brilliant grandeur upon the face of an awakening world. Day at last has broken.

No longer need scientists grope in a world dark with ignorance; the light of discovery has brightened the future as well as the present of mankind. New inventions in the line of machinery make man's daily tasks lighter. Surely man has just begun to live.

With his third year of high school life at hand, our student finds himself better equipped and to a higher degree mentally prepared to face and overcome that which lies ahead of him. As he advances through the year he finds new approaches, new paths of endeavor opened to him. His most intensive training is under way.

So a fresh new friend - fun, good luck
all that goes with it!

BOOK IV

SENIORS

BOOK FOUR

THE upturned face of the earth is bathed in brilliant light, but here and there, dotting the landscape, are valleys and canyons where the rays have not yet reached. Still further must the scientist probe to turn the light of knowledge into these dark places. The march of science has not yet reached its zenith.

The fourth and final year of public school instruction has been reached at last. The student finds himself about to be turned out into a strange new world. He has been well trained but there are still many facts of life to be learned which can best be conquered when confronted. His formal education is complete perhaps, but never will he stop learning until the day his sands are run.

AGRICULTURE CLASS

MAY DAY

This year, as in the past, a May Day was held, sponsored by the Girls' League.

The queen-elect for this year, Ruth Harris, was presented with the crown by the previous year's queen, Doris Ranck. The queen was attended by her court, consisting of girls from the Senior and Junior classes.

The theme for the day was the representation of the four seasons of the year. Autumn was represented by a dance of leaves; Winter, by a dance of snowflakes; Spring, by a dance of birds, and Summer, by a dance of roses.

Tableaux presenting different phases of school life were staged between each dance.

A girls' chorus sang selections in keeping with the central theme. The traditional May Pole dance concluded the program.

AGRICULTURE CLASS

Progressing as all sciences have, the Agriculture Class, now in its eleventh year, has advanced in tremendous strides. This progress takes the form of new features added to the curriculum every year. During this year, through the addition of new equipment, the class provides a course in manual training which excels that of previous years.

The enrollment has increased from six boys in 1928 to forty-eight this year, a record for the department. The Agriculture Class is an example of a steadily growing project that teaches in a short period knowledge that has taken the world centuries to obtain.

CHRISTMAS CAROL SERVICE

The annual Christmas Carol Service was given on Wednesday evening, December twentieth, at 8:40 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

The carolers included members of the Girls' Ensemble, Boys' Glee Club, and other boys and girls from the high school who wished to sing.

The audience was seated near the front of the auditorium, while the carolers marched in and sat at the back, where they sang their songs. The effect of this arrangement, with the soft harmonious voices, made the service very stirring.

The music included ten unusual carols taken from "The Oxford Book of Carols," perhaps the finest of sources for interesting material. Carols, ancient and modern, and children's Christmas hymns brought the true spiritual meaning of the season to the listeners.

THE MASQUE

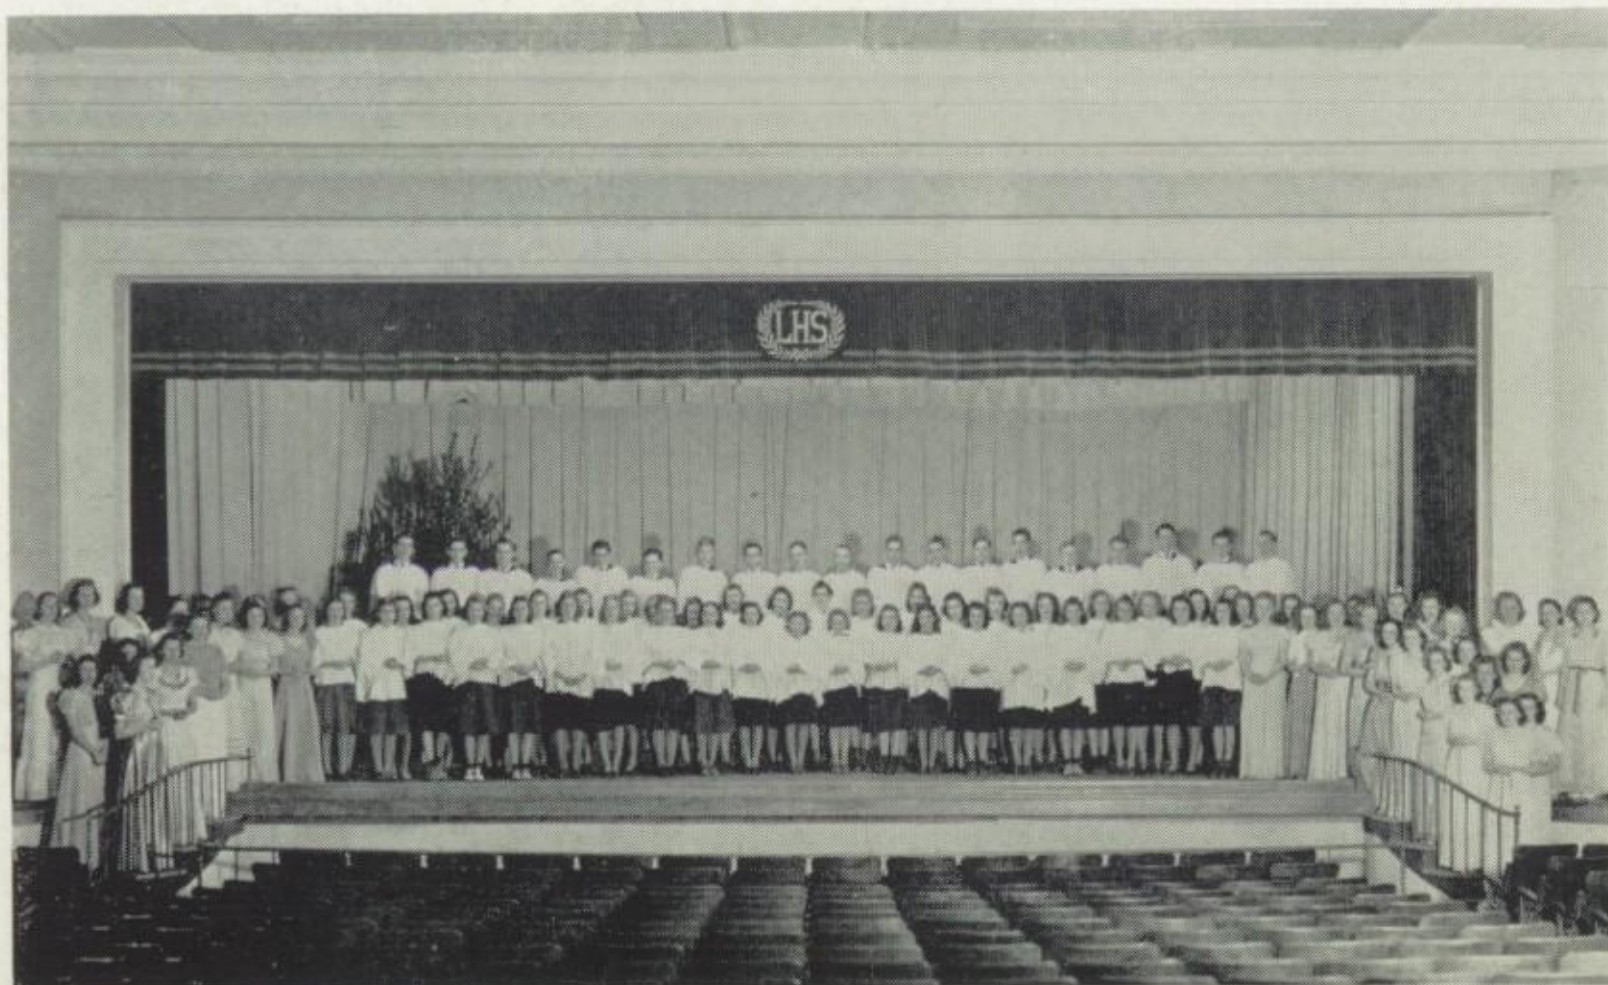

The Masque, commonly known as the Lewisburg High School Dramatic Club, consists of twenty-two members who meet on the first Monday of each month.

Early in the school year, the Masque presented three one-act plays, "The Lovely Miracle," "The Crystal Gentleman," and "The Bronze Lady," given by members of the Senior, Sophomore, and Junior Classes, respectively.

Later in the year, under the direction of Miss Creasy, they presented "Alice Blue Gown," sponsored by the Girls' League.

"Be Home at Midnight" and "The Great Allowance Battle" were given late in the year.

GIRLS' ENSEMBLE

The Girls' Ensemble is now in its fifth year under the capable direction of Miss Inez Robison.

The Ensemble consists of forty girls who spend many hours of their time practicing for an hour once a week during school time, and often many nights after school. Much of their time is spent on studying the art of presentation as well as the techniques of singing.

Throughout the school year, the girls entertain various organizations with their songs. The most outstanding event of the year is the Christmas Carol Service in which the Ensemble, united with the Boys' Glee Club, is the central figure.

Among the selections that were chosen by the Ensemble this year are motets and art songs of the old masters, such as Schubert, Brahms, Bortniansky, and Bach.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

Now in its second year, the Boys' Glee Club, under the supervision of Mr. Ford, is a popular organization. Formed to give those boys who like singing an opportunity, the club has a prominent part in the school activities. On their calendar are appearances in chapel, churches, Christmas Carol Service, P. T. A. meetings, and Fathers' Day Banquet.

In their efforts to develop and perfect their singing, the boys have gone far, with benefits to themselves and service to others.

GYM TEAM

The Gym Team was selected by Miss Blandy and Mr. Henning from a group carefully chosen by means of tests that indicated the abilities of boys and girls in gym work. Dancing, marching, exercises on mats, bars, and springboards constituted the program outlined for the late winter and spring season. Toward the end of the school year the team participated in several school events.

CHEERLEADERS

Several new additions to our cheerleaders this year seemed to improve our cheering section. Working hard to pep up our teams and leading our student body in many cheers, these loyal persons did much to urge our teams to victory. They also found a place for acrobatics in some of our cheers. We wish to thank them for their kind but noisy work.

Fred Getz headed the group with Gloria Bowes, John Oberdorf, Richard Baker, and James Heiter as assistants.

BOYS' INTERCLASS SOCCER

In the boys' interclass soccer league, the Seniors, defending champions, again captured the title. Not only were they undefeated, but also they had only one goal scored against them. Co-captained by Robert Frantz and Philip Johnson and managed by David Gold, they piled up 21 points to their opponent's 2. Philip Johnson was high scorer.

GIRLS' INTERCLASS SOCCER

For five years there have been contests between the soccer teams of the four classes.

This year the Sophomore team won the soccer championship after a very complicated season. In the first series of games all the teams were tied as a result of each team's having won one game, lost one, and tied one game. In the second series, the Juniors defeated the Seniors and the Sophomores defeated the Freshmen. In the play-off between the Sophomores and Juniors, the Sophomores won by a score of 4-2.

Student managers, captains, and referees took charge of these competitive events.

GIRLS' INTERCLASS BASKETBALL

The Girls' Interclass Basketball League is made up of two teams from each class, a green and a white team. The Senior Green Team played through this year with a perfect record to become the champions. The members of the team are Agnes Cooper, captain; Uvenia Gallagher, Justine Kramer, Beatrice Aikey, June Shannon, and Martha Doyle.

VAR SITY SOCCER

By working hard and displaying a fine brand of soccer all year, the Green Dragons attempted to get their school its third state championship and permanent possession of the state cup. For the fifth consecutive year they won the championship of the Snyder-Union League. However they were eliminated from the state finals by a very disappointing 3-2 defeat handed them by Dalmatia. Their record included 13 wins and 2 defeats, and they scored 59 points to their opponents 7.

VAR SITY BASKETBALL

Our team tried hard to get a basketball championship for their school this year but could not stand the fast pace set by several schools in the league. The Green Dragons defeated most of the teams in the league and were not beaten by more than three points.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

Under the leadership of Marjorie Baney, during the first semester, the members of the Girls' League were divided into clubs. Included in these were the bowling club, etiquette club, ping-pong, and badminton club, and dancing club.

For the second semester it was decided that the girls would have general meetings in the auditorium and be entertained and advised in a series of lectures by prominent citizens of the town. These assembly gatherings were most profitable.

SONS OF THE GREEN DRAGON

With the leadership of David Gold, the boys began the year's work by having general meetings where they heard valuable lectures given by prominent people of the town.

The first man to speak to the boys was District Attorney Showers on "Being a Lawyer."

Among the others who came to the school, were J. C. Hughes, a representative of General Motors Corporation, speaking and giving examples of some future possibilities for more synthetic processes.

Sergeant Lantz lectured on "Policemen," while Mr. John Plant gave the boys several helpful points on "Getting a Job."

A lecture proving most interesting was on the subject "Guns," given by Professor John B. Miller, of Bucknell University.

The boys have participated in other activities such as the father-son banquet and the annual school fair.

SCIENTIFIC REVELATION

Shhh! Silence! Dr. Joseph Blow has just ushered us into his private laboratory. He is now revealing an invention to take us into the future. A screen comes to life; a man appears, speaking softly: "In review will pass some of Lewisburg's prominent citizens in the year of our Lord 1960."

Why, this is quiet little Lewisburg! As we go down the main street, two shops with glaring windows attract our attention. We read in large letters, "No matter how badly the world thinks of your face, we can alter your portrait," signed, Fred K. Getz, photographer. The other reads that "the work can be done more cheaply," signed, Raymond Wilson, proprietor. There pass two persons whom we recognize instantly. One is exclaiming how he has proved science is all wrong; the other attempts to quiet these ravings: "That's all right, Dave; quiet down." We discover the speaker John has become blind from having worn loud shirts during his earlier years.

As the camera continues we find our Eleanor attempting to get to Perkiomen to watch Charlie conduct graduation exercises there. Here is a boy grasping some wilted flowers. Why, it's Jim Wainwright trying to find a ride to Mazeppa. The machine finds another couple journeying down the street. A boy, Bill, carries a box of candy. Turning to the girl, he explains that his only reason for going to the doctor is that he is ill. She winks knowingly and complains about her falling arches. Under her arm is a newspaper with head lines, "Cooper's basketball aces triumph over Beatrice Aikey's Marvels."

See the large crowd gathering around a man who seems familiar! Why, it's Paul Eyster! He's paying his debts! At this point even the machine can't take the blow and breaks into a thousand pieces. As the explosion clears there are some words still remaining on the screen: "All similarities to members of the class of forty are not purely accidental."

SCIENCE SENIORS HAVE LEFT

Marlin Ritter's nose to William Bond.
Windy Smith's gift of gab to Donald Williams.
Joe Ticcony's ambition to wide-awake Ostergren.
Romeo Wainwright's romantic abilities to killer-diller Dave Johnson.
Phil Johnson's beard to Richard Diehl.
Robert Frantz's taxi to Mark Rietz.
Bill Heim's athletic ability to flashy-splash Anderson.
Uvenia Gallagher's college boys to Phyllis Davis.
Fred Getz's horse laugh to Gloralie Collier.
Francis Fritzen's handsome physique to Fred Slack.
Dick Baker's love for studies to David Leiby.
Bill Reed's comic books to Dutch Moyer.
Senior girls' physic grades to the Junior girls.
Fred Grenoble's quick acquaintanceship with new girls to bachelor George Ticcony.
Beatrice Aikey's interest in all boys to Frances Hitchcock.
Marjory Baney's giggles to Helen Eyster.
Joan Murphy's attractiveness to Nancy Herring.
Bernhart's loud shirts to David Johnson.
Eleanor Linaberry's sweet temper to Charlotte Breisch.
Bill Rexroad's humorous antics to Norbie Wilson.
Agnes Cooper's falling arches to Peggy Kauffman.
Ruth Harris' bashful manners to Anna May Gold.
Raymond Wilson's patient temper to explosive Ivan Brown.
To the Freshmen the Seniors give their permission to avenge their wrongs after three years.

ODD DATES FROM OUR SCRAPBOOK

We Look Back to the Day . . .

Our class held its nose a little higher—we were Seniors!

Seniors looked upon the Freshmen with vengeance in their eyes.

Paul Eyster lost his class ring and she wouldn't give it back.

Senior boys, especially Bernhart, lost interest in school work to become interested in a newcomer.

Senior boys developed a flying wedge to get into the cloak room.

Second period study hall was rearranged in the interests of all.

Fred Getz became grey trying to get a picture of the interclass soccer champs.

The Oneida presented three one-act plays.

Mr. Troutman bagged a deer while a "dear" bagged Bernhart.

A Freshman boy whistled during assembly.

Wainwright found another girl friend.

Fred Grenoble was compelled to shave.

Faculty Quartet sang "Oh, Johnny."

Hallowe'en parade was held despite rain; Senior boys came as clowns.

William Reed came to school on crutches.

High School defeats Alumni in football.

Smelling salts were passed around Mrs. Person's room as Tom walked in two minutes before the tardy bell rang.

Mr. Stover told the Seniors he would be through with us by May 31.

Peggy Kauffman bought a class ring for herself.

Fred Getz watched his play being killed during chapel.

Mr. Ramsey gave us his information about the situation in Europe.

Our hopes for State Championship honors were stopped when we lost to Dalmatia.

Paul Eyster paid his class dues.

During Boys' League Meeting, police patrolman warned boys against speed. Dave found they enforce the law also on New Year's Eve.

Christmas program was given in chapel.

Christmas Carol Service was held.

During Christmas holidays, we got our last big vacation until June.

We started the basketball season with high hopes.

Girls held their annual banquet.

Mid-Year Exams were given.

Mr. Heckart gave a talk on school spirit as game with Milton approached.

Lewisburg lost basketball hopes when Milton defeated our team.

Sons of the Green Dragon held Father and Son Banquet.

George Ticcony defeated Paul Eyster in ping pong.

Mr. Heckart led assembly in singing "Little Sir Echo."

Snowstorm—half day holiday.

Mrs. Mathias was absent because of sickness. Home room sent flowers.

Mr. Stover talked on the late John Buchan.

Plans for fair were made and fair presented.

Mr. Minnier showed pictures on U. S. Rubber plantations.

Boys' Glee Club sang in chapel.

Leap Year dance was held.

Series of patriotic speakers gave talks.

Fred Getz and Miss Robison were on verge of nervous breakdown as year book nears completion.

Seniors measured for caps and gowns.

Ruth Harris relinquished her crown.

Senior Class play was given.

Baccalaureate Services were held.

Commencement exercises were held amid sniffles and hand shakes.

ADVERTISEMENTS

have long been a medium of conveying an interesting or important piece of information to the public. They have been a tool of the scientist and the inventor in announcing their discoveries to the masses and to prove the practical application of their creations.

On the following pages we present the advertisements of our patrons. Each has its distinct piece of information which may be of aid to you.

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our advertisers and extend to them our hearty good wishes for success in the future. We hope their insertion will help them even as it has us.
